FRANCE STERN IN TREATY DEMANDS FOR REPARATION

Allied Council Disagrees on Payments To Be Made
By Germany.

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 27.—It was understood this morning that the British delegates attending the session of the supreme allied council considered it impossible to agree to the French viewpoint regarding German reparation. The morning's session of the council was cancelled in order that Premier Lloyd George of England might have an opportunity to talk privately with the members of the council regarding the French position as set forth yesterday by Paul Doumer, the French minister of finance.

France Standing Pat.

France was understood to stand firmly on the provision of the treaty of Versailles, which placed the whole subject of German indemnities in the hands of the allied reparation committee. Great Britain on the other hand adhered to the agreement reached last year by which it was stipulated Germany should pay annually an average of six billion marks.

Recommendations by allied military experts relative to the disarmament of Germany were to have been considered by the council today. Marshal Foch was reported to have added to the recommendations a demand for the fixing of penalties, in case Germany did not comply with the allied terms.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—With the capture of Roy Fitzhugh, 12 years old, police believe today the activities of a child bandit, who has successfully help up several women within the past few weeks, are ended. Roy, who is said to have been behind Miss Elvira McDonald's last night and snatched her purse. She gave chase and caught the boy with little difficulty she said.

A number of women have reported being robbed by a boy about 12 years old, who carried a good sized revolver. Police say Roy had no such weapon when caught.

ANOTHER ARREST IN MAIL THEFT

Partner of Former Parson
Will Be Arraigned Today at Centralia.

(By the Associated Press)

MT. VERNON, Ill., Jan. 27.—Loren Williamson, business partner in the garage business with Guy Kyle, former preacher, who has confessed complicity in the $216,000 mail theft here January 14, was arrested shortly before noon today in connection with the robbery. Williamson has denied participation in it.

Kyle, who is being held in default of $20,000 bail, is said to have implicated Williamson in the robbery.

Williamson will be taken to Centralia today for arraignment, it was said. He is the person, whose report of finding part of the money in one of their garages led to Kyle's arrest. Since Kyle's arrest Williamson has been endeavoring to collect the reward of approximately $23,000 offered by security companies.

WILL NOT DELAY MURDER TRIAL OF STRIKE RIOTERS

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Jan. 27.—Trial of the 24 men accused of participation in the famous Matewan battle of May 19 last, will go on, Judge R. D. Bailey announced at the opening of circuit court here today. He overruled the motion for the defense to quash the seven indictments for murder on the ground that one of the grand jurors was not a resident of West Virginia at the time of the battle.

Deputy sheriffs guarded every entrance to the Mingo county court house this morning, to search for all arms carried by persons who sought to enter.

A Correction

It was announced by mistake in yesterday's paper that the order of the Eastern Star would meet last night. The notice should have read Thursday night instead and the regular meeting will be held Thursday night. All members who were out last night should come again tonight.

Crops Are Damaged By Late Weather Conditions

Considered Serious By Fed.
Agriculture Bureau of Crop Estimates.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 26.—Although some damage to Oklahoma winter crops may result from the recent mild weather and heavy precipitation of moisture, the rainfall of the last week and the continued spring climatic conditions has caused officials of the state department of agriculture and the federal bureau of crop estimates to place a more serious consideration on the danger threatened by such conditions.

Recalling reports of damage to winter wheat in the southwestern, central and southwestern counties of the state following the mild weather the early part of the month, the added rainfall and continued warm weather has caused speculation among agricultural heads and farmers alike over the possibilities of heavy damage.

Experts in the department of agriculture have been dispatched to many parts of the state from which reports have been received complaining of unusual conditions existing in the early winter what situation. H. H. Shutz, director of the federal bureau of crop estimates, left here Tuesday afternoon for Stillwater and thence to Canadian county for the purpose of investigating increasing reports of evidences of the green bug in that section of the state. Some of the farmers reporting to the bureau are fearing a repetition of the scourge of 1906-1907, Mr. Shutz said.

Mr. Shutz said he did not believe the situation alarming, but that all preventative means should be taken at once to stave off any recurrence of the scourge. Other grain ailments agitated by the warm weather and which have been further aggravated by the last rainfall are reported from Blaine, Beckham, Canadian and Kingfisher counties.

Grub has attacked the wheat in these counties, the reports say, while the green bug has also made its appearance. The belief was expressed by agricultural experts that the Hessian fly has already become manifest in the northeastern corner of the state, but as yet in not any noticeable degree.

Alternating mild and cold periods, which are predicted, cause many farmers in the state to speculate as to what end the fruit crop and berries will come. January weather has already brought many trees and bushes into the stages of premature budding, they declare, which a destructive frost later will practically ruin. Reports from the southern parts of the state to the board of agriculture that many trees are budding there, are denied by heads of the department. It was said, however, that if the prevailing weather continued for another two weeks, followed by a sudden cold snap, there were possibilities of serious damage to the fruit crop.

Winter wheat is behind its normal growth for this time of the year, according to John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture, although sufficient information to forecast a likely damage of the forecast a likely winter weather and the reported bug and grub attacks has not been received.

The green bug menace of 1906-07 arrived during the latter part of January and early February, when temperatures of nearly 70 degrees above zero had prevailed for some weeks, followed by rains, according to the department. Heavy losses to winter wheat resulted in those years and the visitation of a similar scourge this year would mean a much larger loss due to increased acreage and higher value of crops, it was said.

Prices in Ada have reached the low ebull mark, according to leading merchants of this city. Following upon the heels of the crash this past fall, prices were slashed without regard of cost and reached rock bottom. The merchants realized the necessity of moving the goods on their shelves in order to get back to a normal basis, and in many instances have taken a loss in order to turn the goods in to cash needed in the turnover of their capital.

Soon the mid-winter sales will be over and the tide will commence to swing back the other way. The top of the downward did not stop at the normal level, but went on down to the very bottom. In getting back to normal, the swing will be slightly upward, and the buying public will save money by taking advantage of the reductions now being offered by the different stores.

"Buy now if you want to save," is the advice given by the managers of our leading stores.

The manufacturer's have taken a loss in readjusting themselves to the new level. Many of these unloaded the goods in their warehouses at prices much lower than the actual cost of production. But in the readjustment, it is found that there has been a noticeable reduction in the cost of raw materials, only with but a slight reduction in the cost of labor, and labor is the biggest item in the cost of a manufactured piece of goods. The manufacturers must realize a profit in order to keep the wheels turning. This means that only the difference in the cost of raw materials and the slight reduction in the cost of labor will be reflected in the retail price of goods. It is estimated that goods this spring will retail at an average of one-third less than last spring. It is thought that the drop will be felt a little more by summer.

Sales in Full Swing

Clearance sales are in full swing at the leading dry goods and furnishing stores. Shaw's department store continues to slash prices with its "Blue Bird Sale." Stevens-Wilson company likewise offer opportunities to the bargain hunter. Reductions in men's wear are attracting attention to the Model Clothing, and Drummond and Algonquin have put the knife to their prices. The A. P. Brown store is staging a bankrupt sale, having bought out the entire stock of a store which recently closed its doors in bankruptcy. Burk's Fashion Shop announces the opening of a big cash sale. Moser's have their bargain sign out, and so on from one end of Main street to the other, bargains, bargains, bargains.

And not only are the prices cut, confined to dry goods and wearing apparel. Grocery stores, too, are getting back to normal. Mrs. Housewife, when she looks through the Evening News, will see that the grocers are also making efforts to get back to normal prices.

Trade prospects are bright for the coming months. The outlook from the farmer's viewpoint is good. The mills and factories are under full steam again, and with the building program being pushed ahead there will be lots of work for the laboring man. With prices back to normal, it looks as if Ada and Pontotoc county will be sitting on velvet.

HARDING DODGES SOCIAL DOINGS TO PLAY GOLF

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 27.—Side-stepping many public and social functions proposed for him at this fashionable winter resort, President-elect Harding divided his short stay here today between private luncheon and a game of golf. Leaving here late in the afternoon the houseboat "Victoria" was expected to tie up for the night a short distance south and to proceed tomorrow morning for Miami.

BELIEVE KILLER OF WIFE AND SON NEAR INSANITY

Slick Murderer Asks To Accompany Bodies To Burial Place.

SAPULPA, Jan. 27.—E. H. Sloan, oil driller who is alleged to have killed his four year old son following the shooting of his wife at their tent home near Slick, late Tuesday, is on the verge of insanity, county officials declared today.

"He is brooding over the double tragedy and may lose his reason any time," Assistant County Attorney Wagoner, to whom Sloan made a signal statement Tuesday night, said.

"Sloan has asked to be allowed to accompany the bodies of his wife and son to Paoia, Colorado, where they will be buried. This permission may be granted," Wagoner concluded.

The first degree murder charge prepared against Sloan for the slaying of his son will not be filed until after the funeral, the county attorney announced.

According to Sloan's signed statement, his wife was killed in a scuffle over a pistol and then he is alleged to have shot his son and tried to kill himself but the gun jammed. He notified his employer and surrendered to the sheriff.

THE LEGISLATURE

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 27.—The upper house of the Oklahoma legislature again today is prepared to hear discussed resolutions proposing the election of two members of that body. One onster, directed at Senator C. A. Dearmon, of Sapulpa, and was launched in a resolution introduced late yesterday by Senator W. R. Wallace of Pauls Valley. The resolution charges Dearmon is in the employ of the State Highway Department, and thus disqualified to hold a seat in the senate.

Charge Improper Election.

Another resolution by J. E. Fleming of Poteau, introduced late yesterday would remove Senator Clark Nichols of Eufaula, on the ground that he was not properly elected to the senate.

The warehouse bill was still before the senate when adjournment was taken yesterday and will probably be given more time today.

Adoption by the senate late yesterday of the majority report opposing the taking over of certain state schools to be used as emergency hospitals for former service men was hailed by the supporters of the schools as saving the institutions.

The house continued yesterday its discussion of bills in committee as a whole and voted to pass several.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 27.—The house committees were evidently in a "bill killing" mood today, for the first nine bills reported at today's session of the house came out of committee branded "unfavorable."

Cork's Mayor Has Vanished Like DeValera

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Donal O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, whose status in this country was that of a seaman awaiting a chance to reship from some American port, has dropped out of sight.

His last public appearance was on Tuesday when he addressed the executive committee of the American committee for relief of Ireland here. It was in as quiet a manner as this that Tamoun de Valera, "president of the Irish republic," disappeared when he slipped back to Ireland this winter.

good. The mills and factories are under full steam again, and with the building program being pushed ahead there will be lots of work for the laboring man. With prices back to normal, it looks as if Ada and Pontotoc county will be sitting on velvet.

Included were two measures on which has been much discussion. The one designed to place a ten year ban of quail shooting and the other senate concurrent resolution number three providing for an investigation of the contract let for construction of the Tahliana sanatorium.

The findings of the house investigating committee into the Tahliana case was reported by the judicial and executive reports of the committee on education. The report said that investigation showed there was some irregularity in the letting of the contract, but it was the committee's belief that it was not sufficient to warrant cancellation of the contract or stoppage of work, as such action would result in the greatest loss to the state. Recommendation was made that work continue and that the resolution be not passed.

In the case of house bill number twenty four, proposing a ten year ban on killing quail, the fish and game committee recommended that it be not passed. A minority report was filed by Jess L. Fuller, of Davis, author of the bill, recommending passage when his motion for a postponement of the bill was voted out.

Other measures reported unfavorable, as follows:

In the local advisor committee report number two, to name November 16 as Oklahoma day; house bill number seventeen, regarding publicity and circulation of libelous and scandalous statements concerning candidates for public office.

Uncle Sam Has Thirteen Billion Stored

Sixteen Days Required To Count the Cash in Treasury.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Acting Treasurer Allen announced today that a total of $13,883,819,826.362 in cash and securities was found in the treasury, as a result of the count necessitated by the resignation of John Burke, as treasurer.

This total is about ten million dollars greater than usual and is accounted for by approximately that amount of notes deposited by foreign governments for war loans.

No shortage was revealed by the count, Treasurer Allen said, the cash and securities being found just as they had been. A receipt for more than thirteen billion dollars will be signed and given to the former treasurer relieving him of the responsibility for his guardianship of the treasury money.

OUT TEN MINUTES, JURY FREES MAN IN MURDER CASE

Shot in Self Defense Is Plea of Anderson for Killing
Will Edwards.

"Not guilty!"

Ten minutes after they had filed out to decide the fate of J. J. Anderson, charged with murder for the killing of William Edwards, the jury of twelve men filed back to their places in the jury box and announced their decision exonerating Anderson.

Anderson was placed on trial at the opening of yesterday morning's session of the district court, with Judge J. W. Bolen on the bench. The trial lasted throughout the day yesterday, and a short session was held last night at which time Anderson was placed on the stand in his own defense.

The case went to the jury shortly after noon today, after an eloquent plea for the defense by Robert Wimlish, and a stirring argument from County Attorney Wayne Wadlington, supplemented by Ralph Rawlings of Sulphur and John Crawford of Ada, two noted criminal lawyers.

Anderson's plea was self defense. The state charged that he had deliberately killed Edwards for coming on his place and insulting his wife. A chain of evidence was woven about the defendant which seemed to spell his guilt and doom. The jury found, however, that the evidence given by the witnesses for the defense justified him for taking Edward's life.

The killing occurred at the Anderson home near Dolberg, on the 27th of November, 1918. The defense sought to show that Anderson killed Edwards in what he thought to be self defense; that the acts of Edwards and his son Vinson, immediately prior to the time of the fatal shooting when considered in the light of what had transpired at the Anderson home the morning of the same day, were such that would have led any other man so situated to consider his life in imminent danger.

The farm on which Anderson lived was owned by Will Edwards, and Anderson was his tenant. Testimony showed that Edwards had turned his stock in on the crops raised by Anderson, a number of times, to let them feed. Considerable damage had been done by the animals to the cotton, cane and kaffir belonging to the defendant, and when Anderson asked Edwards to have it stopped he paid no attention to him and continued the practice.

The day before the killing occurred, Anderson had driven eight or ten horses belonging to Edwards out of his field and closed a gate so they could not enter again. Edwards was very angry about the matter, and threatened personal violence to Anderson, saying that he would go to his home and "stomp the guts out of him," the following day.

The next day Will Edwards and his son Vinson rode over to the Anderson home about 9 o'clock. Mrs. Anderson and the six children were at home but Anderson was at Dolberg, where he ran a small store. The two men rode up to the door and asked Mrs. Anderson if her husband had turned the horses out the day before. She told them that he had, whereupon they both cursed her and her husband and William Edwards made a threat that if he turned them out again "one of them would be bloody over it." They soon rode away after saying that they would return that day with the horses and turn them in again.

As soon as the men left, Mrs. Anderson phoned to her husband and he came home. She told him of the visit of Edwards and his son, and repeated to him their conversation and threats.

Mr. Anderson remained at home until Will Edwards and Vinson arrived about 3:30 p. m. that afternoon. They were driving a number of horses and opened the gate to the Anderson farm and drove them in.

The Edwards then approached the house in a threatening attitude, according to Anderson's story. Anderson went into the house and got his shotgun. The elder Edwards had his hand in his pocket. Anderson ordered them to stop, but they continued to approach and when they refused to stop Anderson fired the shot which killed the elder Edwards.

BOOZE TRAFFIC COMMITTEE TO GO ON SHELVE

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Put out of business by prohibition, the house alcoholic liquor traffic committee, which has not met for more than a year, is preparing to fade away like the old brass rail. Members are ready to ask for their release, agreeing with Chairman Volstead of the judiciary committee, that the Volstead enforcement act has teeth enough to handle any liquor problem that may arise.

GOD'S REQUIREMENTS—And now, Israel, what does the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul.—Deuteronomy 10:12.

EUROPE'S CASE OF NERVES.

Writers in Europe who are predicting direful things that will accompany the next great war—a war which they claim is already imminent—may be prompted to a large extent by a case of over-wrought nerves, resulting from the terrible ordeal through which so many countries of Europe passed during the war. It will be recalled, however, that few persons believed the world war would last more than a year, for it was argued that the engines of war were so terrible that the nations could not bear the strain upon their resources in men and money.

There are predictions that Russia will attack Rumania and Poland in a great spring drive to recover territory taken from the Russians by the war settlements, or rather the proposals to settle the war. Russia has unlimited resources in men, but something more than that is required to conduct a war for a great length of time. While the truth about Russia appears as indeterminable as it was four years ago, there is no reason to believe that the bolsheviks have been able to organize the country in a way that would permit it to carry on an invasion of Rumania and Poland, backed by the Balkan states and by Czecho-Slovakia.

It would be unwise to decide, without reservations, that there will not be a war in the spring, with the Russian reds as the aggressors, for the latter are capable of creating a great deal of trouble in eastern Europe. But there is reason to believe that Rumania and Poland are aware of any danger that exists and will prepare to combat it. An attack by the bolsheviks on Rumania and Poland might be the signal for a new uprising by the enemies of the present government in Russia, and such an uprising would prove a serious menace to soviet control.

What Europe needs is a long rest for—a bad case of "nerves."

TEACHING MANNERS IN SCHOOLS.

Discussion of the subject of teaching politeness in the public schools in the bulletin of the New York state department of education may be accepted as an indication of the need of such instruction along more effective lines. While politeness is something which may be acquired through instruction during the school age, it will probably be found that the child who is most polite has had teaching along that line before attaining school age. If some training is neglected, the task of the teacher will be greater.

Many children are lacking in the principles of politeness—a grace which is not inherent, but is acquired by limitation of others and by careful teaching of the things that make for polite conduct. The rules of the Boy Scouts have done much to overcome deficiencies in politeness in boys. The scouts teach that it is not unmanly to exercise those graces in conduct which many boys appear to regard as effeminate. The scouts are taught that politeness is one of the first evidences of manliness, and they are recreant to their obligations if they regard it lightly.

Why should not politeness be made a part of the instruction of every grade school? For a few years, at least, it might be necessary to teach politeness in the high schools, for it is not certain that the critic of conduct would find everything to his liking in the higher classes. And many older persons might learn something worth while through the things taught to their children in the schools on politeness.

The Normal basketball team will leave this afternoon for Shawnee where they will play two games with the Oklahoma Baptist University tonight. They will be accompanied by Coach Clary, who has charge of the Normal athletics.

These two games will be the first which the Normal has played with a college team this year and will be full of pep and interest. Lullaby,
Baloo, loo, lammy, now baloo, my dear,
Does we lammy ken that it's daddy's no here?
We're rocking full sweetly on mammy's warm knee,
But daddy's a-rocking upon the salt sea.

Now hushaby, lammy now hushaby, dear,
Now hushaby, lammy, for mother is near.
The wild wind is raving, and mammy's near.
The wild wind is raving and mammy's near,
The wild wind is raving, and ye dinna care.

Sing baloo, loo, lammy, sing baloo, my dear,
Sing baloo, loo lammy for mother is here,
My wee bairnie's dozing, it's dozing now fine,
And O may its wakening be blither than mine!

DOMINANT WOMAN

"THERE'S much truth in the old saying that a bachelor is merely half a man," observed the professor. "I suppose you are trying to take a fall out of me because I don't get married," said the low-browed man. "It may be true that a bachelor is only a half a man, but when he accumulates a wife, he's usually only a quarter of a man, or maybe one-eighth. The more I see of married men, the more thankful I am that I have never looked up at the altar with an orange wreath on my head."

"Old Doolittle has been married a long time, and he's got so used to being bossed by his wife that he doesn't know what to do when she isn't around. If you offered to lend him $5 he'd say he'd have to consult Eliza Jane about it. One time, when his wife was away, visiting, he ate about a peck of green cucumbers, and the colic shut him up like a folding bed. It was the worst case I ever saw. I heard him yelling for the police, and when I rushed over there and saw him on the floor, with his feet clasped across the back of his neck, I phoned for a doctor at once. We put him to bed, and the agony that man endured was sickening. And as he rolled around there, expecting to go off the books every minute, he kept saying, 'What will Eliza Jane say when she hears I called in a doctor?'"

"After his wife came back, I was over at their house one night, and she roasted me to a crisp for sending for a doctor. She said that if I had the first instincts of a gentleman I'd pay the bill, for I wasn't authorized to call in a sawbones, and she didn't want one in the house. Doolittle sat there and heard his wife roasting me until my whiskers curled and, although he knew the doctor saved his life, he never said a word."

"After I left the house, he sneaked out and overtook me, and told me he was sorry for what had happened, but experience had taught him that it's no use to butt in when his wife has the floor."

"Gooseworthy came over this morning while I was feeding the cows, and told me a tale of woe. His wife has about five hundred female relations, aunts and step-sisters and cousins and such people, and she keeps the house full of them all the time. He has to sleep on a sanitary couch in the hall, while his own feather bed is occupied by an aunt who weighs about 400 pounds. He has a comfortable rocking chair he bought for his own private use, and now he never gets a whack at it. His wife's step-sister, who brought her tortoise-shell cat along, is always using it. He said he was getting plumb disgusted with such a condition of affairs, but he didn't know what to do."

"I asked him why he didn't read the authorized version of the riot act to his wife, and tell her to ship all those relatives out of the house. He seemed shocked at the suggestion. 'You don't know what you're talking about,' he said. 'You've never been married.'"

"The queer thing about it is that Gooseworthy is a great stickler for his rights when he's away from home. He's as sassy as a bobcat, and will fight at the drop of the hat if anybody tries to impose on him. He walks with his head back and his chest out in front of him, but as soon as he reaches his own front gate he begins to look so blatted about that the neighbors pity him."

"Then, there's old Major Sendorff, who distinguished himself on many a crimson battlefield. He has courage enough for three regiments. But he married the Widow Bunkum a couple of years ago and she makes him do the family washing, and hang the clothes on the line, and I suppose he does the ironing, too. I could tell you of a hundred such cases."

"I suppose you could," sighed the professor, "but I don't care for sensational fiction."

Peggy's Wedding Causes Discussion Over Her Suite Against Field Estate

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Peggy Marsh, who has been one of the most talked of young actresses on two continents because of her romantic association with the late Henry Field H. is now married. The winsome English girl married Albert L. Johnson, society man and member of a well-known New York and Cleveland family. The wedding, which was almost an elopement, took place in Greenwich, Conn.

When the facts came out both Mr. Johnson and his wife announced their intention of legally adopting Henry Anthony Marsh, the four-year-old son of Peggy Marsh and Anthony Field H. There are various reports as to Mrs. Johnson's intentions concerning her plans to fight in the courts for a portion of the huge estate of Marshall Field, Henry Field's grandfather, for her young son. One report is that the marriage will put an end to litigation. Another is that she will continue her fight. The third report is that a settlement or agreement has already been made. Both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson deny this, but a New York paper has come out with a statement which they say is authentic to the effect that:

First: Marshall Field heirs have agreed to pay $50,000 per year for the education and upkeep of young Henry Anthony Marsh.

Second: They will purchase for the use of Peggy Marsh (now Mrs. Johnson) a $100,000 mansion either in England or the United States. Albert Johnson, known to his society friends as "Buster," is a nephew of the late Tom L. Johnson, four times mayor of Cleveland. It was Albert's father who helped finance Tom L. Johnson in his famous three-cent fare venture in Cleveland, Ohio.

SUFFERED ALL A WOMAN COULD

Mrs. Meyer Finally Found Relief and Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Orange, Cal.—"I always feel very grateful to you, as some twenty years ago three doctors said I had to have a serious operation. I had a tumor, and ulcers which would gather and break. I had displacement so badly that I could hardly sit down at times, and it seemed as if I suffered everything that a woman could suffer. Then some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it until I was cured and saved from the operation. I have told women of your wonderful medicine times without number, and I am willing that you should use these facts and my name if you like. I also used your Compound during the Change, and I can do all my own work but the heavy part, and can walk miles every day as I help my husband in the office."—Mrs. J. H. Meyer, 412 South Orange St., Orange, California.

It is quite true that such troubles as Mrs. Meyer had may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource. On the other hand, a great many women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

name and the transcontinental sadness of Peggy Marsh's career with that of Albert L. Johnson. Both gave their age as twenty-six. As a matter of fact, the birthday of one occurs in April, the other in December.

Back to New York they came. A rollicking wedding breakfast for just two. Then Mr. and Mrs. Johnson went to the Great Northern hotel.

Bride Has Appendicitis.
A week ago yesterday—Wednesday—Peggy was taken suddenly ill with an acute attack of appendicitis. Specialists were called in. That night Peggy was operated on. She found her husband's hand in hers when she came out of the ether. She smiled happily and peacefully and instantly began to recover.

When asked where they were going to live Johnson said, "Wherever Peggy wishes I think she will choose England."

"Anyway, though, our plans are in the making. I shall go wherever Peggy wishes. I'd like to raise horses and cattle. Maybe in the Argentine. I know I am able to and I am going to support my wife and this little lad. Peggy is the boss, though on the question of where we shall finally settle."

To which a beautiful young woman, propped on her pillows in the sanitarium responded:

"I will go wherever my husband wants me to. I could be happy anywhere with him."

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

My family, with the possible exception of my brother, do not approve of my marriage. But that matters little. They'll come around.

Adopt Little Henry.
"Anyway, I am going to fight this thing out myself. I shall not inherit the principal of my father's bequest to me until next October. But I have enough ego to assert that I can support my wife and her son through my own efforts. I ought to say 'our son' for we intend to adopt Mr. Field's son, little Henry Marsh."

"Our romance." Oh, Peggy and I met quite conventionally at a luncheon at the Ritz. We were introduced and, golly, when I saw her I forgot every other girl I had ever seen. Then—Well, you know how such things develop.

"I am a 'bug' on horses and cattle and I have ranches a lot, but I am also a pretty good dancer." Friends say he's the best dancer off the professional stage.

They Went to Greenwich.

"So we went around a good deal. I was in love with her, but I wasn't so sure about it from her side. I took a wild chance and proposed. She said yes. Oh, boy! Then Peggy and I called a taxi and started out for Greenwich."

Justice Meade took the couple to the courthouse, where the simple event occurred that merged the undigested foods delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

AMERICAN RED CROSS ACTIVE

Does 'Good Work in China and Other Foreign Countries.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The Shanghai branch of the American Red Cross completed in December distribution of something over $500,000 worth of medical and hospital supplies to mission dispensaries and hospitals in all parts in China. The materials given away in China were those left behind in Siberia when the American Red Cross was withdrawn, consisting of 3,205 cases of goods, about a shipload, that were trans-shipped from Vladivostok to Shanghai in the summer months.

In order that a basis might be arrived at for a systematic analysis of the requirements of hospitals in China, and so that the distribution might be equitable, questionnaires were sent out by the Shanghai Red Cross and based on returns from these a chart was prepared which gives a history and description of the distribution.

In all, 400 shipments went forward to various parts of China. Of the 350 hospitals and institutions that received them 232 were non-American and 118 were American. The distribution was made regardless of nationality or creed and hundreds of letters the Shanghai Red Cross has received, attest the urgent need of the things given, particularly at this time when owing to fluctuations of exchange and other causes, working budgets of hospitals have been seriously impaired.

Among the supplies shipped were five complete sets of surgical instruments, the majority of which may not be obtained in China markets, and other things sent included various ious kinds of cotton and bandages, surgical dressings, blanketing, garments, sterilizers, microscopes, and drugs. All expenses and charges for forwarding the supplies were borne by the China Central Committee of the Red Cross.

ALEXANDER DRUG CO.

Dear Sir:—

Having found Rub-a-Cold so effective I take pleasure in writing an unsolicited testimonial in its favor.

Last winter my little boy was threatened with the flu several times but I always applied Rub-a-Cold as soon as he showed symptoms.

My sister came to visit us bringing her 3 year old son who had a bad case of croup. I used Rub-a-Cold and he got instant relief and was soon asleep. We are never without it in the house.

Yours very truly,

Cooper Garage on East Main Street Sold Yesterday

The Fleet Cooper garage on East Main street has been sold out by its owner, Fleet Cooper, to the Colbert brothers of this city. The business affairs were turned over to the new owners yesterday afternoon and they will have charge from that date on. The same force will be employed and the business will be conducted along the same principals as have heretofore been used.

Mr. Cooper formerly had his garage located on South Townsend until a few months ago when he bought out the Rock garage and moved his stock to the present location. He has been in the garage business here for the past two years and has built his trade into one of the largest in the city.

A. Colbert will be the active manager of the garage while his brother, Richard, attends the A. and M. college at Stillwater this term. The firm's name will be changed to Colbert Brother's Garage and will do business under that name.

JERUSALEM CELEBRATES DELIVERANCE OF CITY

Sir Herbert Samuel and Capt. Lord Edwin Hay and staff passing through Jaffa road after receiving salute at Jaffa gate, located under clock tower in middle background.

Elaborate ceremonies marked the third anniversary of the taking of Jerusalem by General Allenby. The Citadel of Zion and roads leading to Jaffa gate were lined with school children and thronged with spectators. A mountain battery from Scopus fired a salute to the high commissioner, Sir Herbert Samuel, while ten airplanes hummed overhead. Brigadier General Castello, V. A., headed the military parade, which consisted of the Southern Lancashire band, a platoon of French and another of Italian troops, two companies of the South Lancshires with colors, seventy-six Punjab, Indian sappers and miners and mountain batteries. The American colony decorated the graves in the military cemetery. In the morning a memorial service was held in St. George's cathedral to commemorate the deliverance of the Holy City and in memory of the dead. The high commissioner, Sir Herbert Samuel, and Mrs. Samuel, church dignitaries of many creeds, the allied consuls and military representatives were present.

GO TO THEATRE

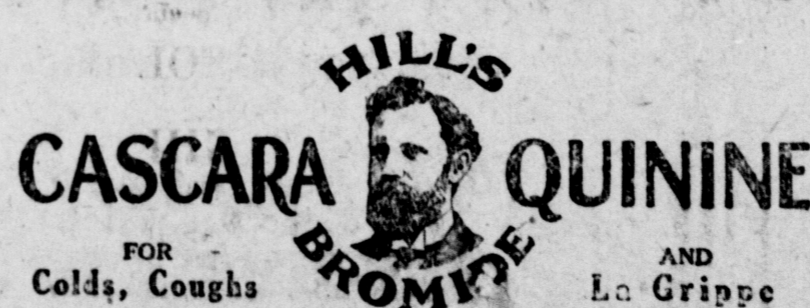

McSwain

Ethel Clayton's latest photoplay, "Crooked Streets," will be the attraction at the McSwain Theater Saturday. It is an adventure-romance of China and was adapted from an original story by Samuel Merwin.

Miss Clayton has the role of Gail Ellis, who, answering an advertisement, becomes secretary to an antiquarian on a trip to China in search of rare vases. In Shanghai, Gail becomes suspicious that her employer's errand is not an honest one, venturing alone in the native section of the city, she is involved in a brawl between some Chinamen and roistering French sailors on leave. An Irish adventurer named O'Dare rescues her with difficulty, but the adventure is not half so startling as the one which follows. Suffice it to say that the picture ends happily for Gail and her rescuer.

An excellent cast, including Jack Holt and Clyde Fillmore, supports Miss Clayton in "Crooked Streets." Paul Powell, who recently directed Mary Pickford in "Pollyanna," was the director. The picture is a Paramount Artcraft.

Livestock Report.

KANSAS CITY STOCK YARDS, Dec. 27.—An advance of 25 to 40 cents today returned the ten dollar quotation in the hog market for the first time in nearly four weeks. The top price was $10.25. Packers cleared the pens in a snappy trade. Cattle prices were stronger. Demand was active. In Chicago, the market was lower, and trade slow. Lambs were up another 25 cents and $1.75 above the low point ten days ago.

Today's Receipts.

Receipts today were 7000 cattle, 3500 hogs, and 6000 sheep, compared with 10,000 cattle, 8500 hogs, and 3800 sheep a week ago, and 16,000 cattle, 13,500 hogs, and 10,500 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle.

Prices for fat cattle were steady to strong with a close clearance. Lower prices in Chicago prevented a general advance here as local receipts were not above the requirements. Packers at the outset bid lower and finally took the bulk of the supply at steady to strong prices. Killing demand seems to be showing increased volume. Fat steers sold up to $11.75 and medium to fair

GIRLS GIVE TEAM $50 BOYS APPRECIATE PEG

(Sixth Day of Story, "When the Boys Failed.")
The next morning Shock was at school earlier than usual. Soon all the boys knew that something was going to happen in Assembly that morning. An air of mystery seemed to pervade the halls where groups of girls gathered at intervals.

At last the 8:30 bell rang and school began. After the singing of the first song everything became very quiet and everybody waited expectantly. Then from the back of the room came Peg. She walked straight up to the front and onto the platform.

Shock looked at Tub and Tub at Shock. What in the world was Peg going to do up there? But their surprise was still greater when they heard her saying:

"Seniors, the girls of this class have something which they wish to present to the team. We have here, holding up a bag, fifty dollars which the girls want to give to the team. We made it last night at our play and we give it to the boys. Now it's up to them to win every game," finished Peg as she left the platform.

"They fellows," yelled Shock, as he jumped up on the platform, let's give a Razzle-dazzle with three Senior girls on the end and then one with Peg Huston on the end. Every boy joined in after Shock as basket-ball manager, had thanked the girls, they were dismissed.

Shock caught Peg just outside the door on her way to class.

"Say, Peg, go to the next basket-ball game?"

"Why, sure, I'll go."

"And—how about the Senior party next week?"

SCHOOL SPORTS

The Short Forward Pass
With a passer whose eye is keen and straight and whose aim is accurate and snappy, the short forward pass is exceedingly dangerous.

Long passes are more risky. They are easier to intercept. One intercepted pass is usually worse than two or three successful ones.

Northwestern University forced other teams to recognize its championship caliber this fall by its short passing game. Where its opponents would succeed in two or three of a dozen attempted long passes, the Purple team from Evanston would make 50 per cent to 75 per cent of its short ones.

GIRLHOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS WOMEN

ELIZABETH BARRETT BROWNING

"Auntie, come see my Hector, son of Priam," said nine year old Elizabeth Barrett to her favorite Aunt who was stopping a few days with the family before she went on to London.

"What are you talking about, dear?" asked Aunt Betty. Elizabeth did not reply but led her out into the garden and told her to look.

"All I see is a lovely garden of flowers growing in the form of a huge giant."

"That is Hector," said Elizabeth gleefully as she danced up and down.

"Don't you remember Hector in the 'Iliad', Auntie? I liked him so much that I planted these flowers to look like him."

Other children of nine years have read Greek stories, but Elizabeth Barrett (1806-1861) read and loved them. She became a great poet. Her name and that of her husband, Robert Browning are two of the best known in English poetry.

There was a fairly good demand for stock cows.

S. O. S.—SAVE OUR SCHOOL

"S. O. S.—Save Our Schools. Vote 'yes' on School Tax, Levies and Bond Issue No. 2."

These are the words on a poster designed by Jos. Burchak, South High School, Cleveland, Ohio.

Thousands of these posters have been distributed in the campaign to secure for Cleveland schools the biggest appropriation of money ever made for this purpose in Ohio. All boys and girls are helping.

"HELLO DAYS" POPULAR

A number of schools are introducing the "Hello Day." On this day all freshmen must say "hello" to everybody they meet.

In other schools, every day is a "Hello day." These rules are a little hard on bashful newcomers, but they do wonders when it comes to making friends quickly.

"The new 'Pep' has a soul: If you have any SUBSCRIBE." Quoted from an enterprising high school paper.

WHO IS HE?
He began as a mining engineer, but is more widely known for other things.

(Yesterday: Jacob Rilla, who brought sunshine into New York's slums.)

"This is a good world to live in." With these words a famous orator began his greatest oration. It is not correct; it is often more forceful to end a sentence with a proposition. Contrast what he said with, "This is a good world in which to live."

Believes in Boys and Girls
"Somehow I have much more faith in the boys and girls than I have in adults when it comes to making genuine live stock breeders. For this reason I take more than ordinary personal interest in boys and girls club work."—Henry A. Perry, Editor, Cloverland Magazine.

SONG OF THE W. B.
Little scraps of paper.
Little wads of gum.

OLD MAN PUZZLE
O O (This is good advice)
(Answer to last one: Combative: Midshipman.)

WILL KEEP ON THEIR HATS IN ELEVATORS NOW

(By the Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, Ohio.—"Hats on" in elevators, even though there may be women passengers is the slogan of the Cincinnati Building Owners and Managers' Association which has started a crusade to that end. Whether they will win their contention that the removal of hats in crowded elevators is a menace to passengers in the immediate vicinity of those who take off their headgear remains to be seen for many prominent Cincinnati women are opposed to the abolition of this old-fashioned courtesy.

"The habit," said Captain W. M. McIntyre president of the association "was introduced by southern people traveling in the north. Originally I understand, negroes were required to remove their hats on entering elevators and in time white men followed the example when women were on the lift. On the same principle why do not men take off their hats when traveling in street car which also contains women passengers?"

And Captain McIntyre got the following answers from women:

"I do not see any reason to discard this courtesy. Courtesy is not a gift. It is merely an exemplification of what a man is. Women never will endeavor to decide this problem for the men."—Mrs. Kennon Dunham, president of the Cincinnati Women's Club.

"Just because women have been enfranchised is not a sufficient reason to effect the innate courtesy of men which a true gentleman will show toward a woman."—Mrs. Fenton Lawson, president of Women's City Club.

"I do not see why now that women have been given equal voting right with men that any established custom should be effected."—Miss Agnes Hilton, representative of First District of Ohio, League of Women Voters.

"I do not believe men are going to lose their chivalry and experience during the recent campaign convinced me that the men are not going to lose it. The question depends upon the women to a great extent. If she is the sort of woman men respect she will hold this respect no matter what field of business or political activity she may enter."—Mrs. Florence Goff Schwarz, member of Hamilton County Republican Executive Committee.

SMOKE CANDLES FOR USE IN WAR

A New Smoke Producing Candle Will Be of Use in War.

(By the Associated Press.)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25.—Toxic smoke candles, recently developed, will have an extensive use in future wars, in the opinion of L. I. Shaw, of the Internal Bureau of Mines, who recently spoke on "Smoke and Incendiary Material," before the Franklin Institute.

"Smoke candles, so called," he said, "are small cylindrical boxes which are filled by some sort of friction device and which contain smoke producing mixtures. Their use is in setting up a smoke screen close at hand, for after ignition they are simply set on the ground not being thrown or projected in any way. The need is very apparent to make the movements of small groups of men close at hand, possible."

"The British, early in the war, developed very satisfactory smoke candles which were used by all the Allies. The Americans also developed a candle which was satisfactory, but which did not set into production and use in France before the armistice. The smoke is normally white, must have maximum capacity and be cool enough to prevent the setting up of air currents and thus rise from the ground. It must be heavy so as to be displaced by the minimum amount of wind of low velocity. These requirements are admirably met by candles which produce a smoke consisting of zinc chloride."

"As regards the future of incendiary material, my own opinion, which opinion, however, is substantiated by at least some of the military critics, is that incendiary material, except for small arms and long range shell and drop bombs will have at least a very limited, and perhaps no use. The flame projectors will probably never be used in a future war. Smoke material, on the other hand, will have a very extensive and ever increasing use. By the use of the smoke screen during an attack the casualties can be largely reduced."

"There was in progress of development by the British and Americans during the latter part of the war, smoke candles which would give a toxic smoke. The toxic material employed was diphosphorus pentoxide. Diphosphorus pentoxide is a solid which vaporizes in the heat of the candle and is obtained in such a state of division that it will penetrate most gas masks. Such toxic smokes, of which there will probably be others developed, will find a very extensive use in the future. It is the greatest step made thus far in the new use of smoke."

PLAN TO HOLD GOOD ROADS CONFERENCE IN SHANGHAI

(By the Associated Press.)
Shanghai, ec. 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Plans were set in motion in December by Dr. C. T. Wang, head of the good roads committee of the recently organized Pan Pacific Union, to hold a good roads convention in Shanghai in the spring of 1921. The immediate purpose of the convention will be to discuss the projects of building roads from Shanghai to Hangchow and from Shanghai to Nanking. Doctor Wang, who was one of China's delegates to the peace conference at Paris, is enlisting the aid of heads of Chambers of Commerce and other commercial bodies arranging the convention.

FAMOUS STATUE OF VENUS, LONG LOST, IS FOUND IN U. S.

One of four of Giorgi's famous replicas of "crouching Venus."

This statue, one of four of Giorgi's famous replicas of the "crouching Venus," a wonderful work of statuary now in the vatican gallery, Rome, has been discovered in the home of Anthony R. Sanna, a Washington business man. Giorgi, who lived in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, made four replicas of the famous statue, each being known as the "Venus with veins," owing to the fact that they were carved from Carrara marble, which has a vein running through it. They have been lost for centuries. A plaster cast of the statue in the Corcoran galleries in Washington was the clue to the identity of Giorgi's work. It was shipped from Sicily years ago by Mr. Sanna's father to New York. He believed he was sending a crate of furniture.

LIBRARY ORDERED CLOSED UNTIL REPAIRS ARE MADE

(By the Associated Press.)
ARDMORE, Okla., Jan. 26.—The Carnegie library here has been ordered to close its doors February 1, and keep them closed until the building has been repaired sufficiently to warrant safety to persons entering the building. Mrs. H. H. Sayre, chairman of the library board, has received instructions from Lewis Davidson, building inspector, to lock the library, declaring the building is "unsafe for occupancy."

The library is not to be opened except for the purpose of removing books or tearing down the building, the inspector ordered.

WHY I LIVE IN ADA

Write the Evening News a letter telling why you live in Ada. We want to boost Ada by telling of the advantages of living here, and the people who live here know what these advantages are.

For the best letter we will pay $5, and for the two next best we will give two half-year subscriptions to the Evening News.

The contest closes Saturday. All letters must be sent in not later than Friday. The News will publish all letters sent in, and these will be turned over to the Chamber of Commerce to be used as advertising matter for Ada.

Why I Live in Ada.

You ask me to write a letter. An' I reckon I'd better. In my own plain-handed way. Tho' I'm no worl' renound booster. Can't crow like a big game rooster. Nor say big things like some guys say.

Can scarcely see from here to yonder. O'er some 'things I need to ponder. As I meet 'em each fleetin' day. But I reckon I am certain. When I see the oils a squirtin' From oil well's near ol' Ada.

O you guy—yes, by jings—so I came here six years ago. To this good ol' double A town. Where silver-eagle dollars jingle. An' all class of folkses mingle. While cheerfulness is hangin' round'.

But you ask me jus' to tell you. Crack your whip, an' say come thru'—

In a plain consive way— Tell the worl' some plausible reason Why to this spot you're squeazin'. An' why you live in ol' Ada.

Like to live 'mongst clever people. Where welcome rings from bell in steeple. An' factory-smoke ascends to the sky. Where laws prevent disastrous bluster.

An' every guy's a home-made booster. By jings! that's my reason why. Yours for a boost to booster, —J. ALBERT CRANE

Ada Evening News: While reading the evening paper I noticed your request for letters boosting the city. I am only a high school boy, but I agree with you. "Be a booster or move out." I live in Ada because it is a progressive little city of 8,500 people.

ple, situated in one of the best farming districts in Oklahoma. There are many producing oil wells near Ada and many new wells are being drilled day by day.

Many progressive factories and other industries are located in and around the city including a glass factory, a brick and tile plant, a creamery, two bakeries, an ice plant, four wholesale grocery houses and one of the largest cement plants in the United States. Ada has an inexhaustible gas supply and a bubbling spring furnishes the town with water. Ada also has eight churches, two live commercial clubs, five Boy Scout troops, and one of the best daily newspapers in the state, who are all doing their best to boost the city to a higher place morally, religiously and commercially.

In Ada is found one of the best school systems of the state, consisting of a high school, five ward schools, and one of the best normal schools in the state.

Ada has very strict morals, in fact its health, wealth and morals, makes it an ideal place to live, prosper and to raise your family.

Yours for a better city,

WILL USE LAST YEAR'S METHODS FOR BASEBALL

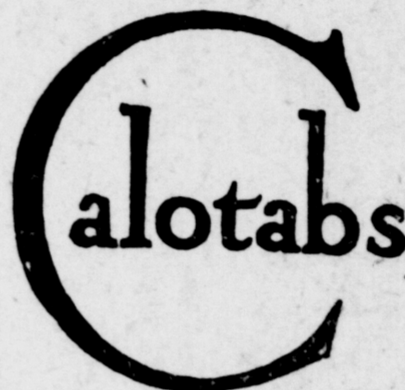

(By the Associated Press.)
CLEVELAND, Jan. 25.—Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Americans, is so satisfied with the training system of last season that he will continue it when the team reaches Dallas early in March. One workout a day instead of two, as many of the other big league squads has, will be all the practice the champions will get. They will turn out between 10 and 11 o'clock each morning and work until about 1 p. m.

"That amount of practice had them just right at the start of last season, so why run the risk of getting them stale in the six weeks or more that they're conditioning for the opening of the season?" Speaker said.

Speaker also intends to switch his left-handed and right-handed batsmen according to the opposing pitchers. If this arrangement fails to produce results, Speaker declares he will change it. At the end of last season Jamieson played left field when a right-handed pitcher worked for the opposition, Smith right field and Johnson first base, but when a left-hander was on the mound against them, they were replaced by Evans, Wood and Burns, respectively.

Heralds of Liberty Pay Earnest C. Hughes $500.00

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

This is to certify that in August, 1915, I applied for and received from the Heralds of Liberty of Philadelphia, two certificates. I further wish to state that on January 26, 1921, District Managers Claude Logsdon and Guy Logsdon of Ada handed me a check for $500 in full payment as a Joint Life Distribution, which was paid on account of the death of Raymond B. Helsman of Main street, Mildred, Pa.

I have paid on these certificates in wour years and eleven months the amount of $72.39.

To say that I was surprised with this early settlement is putting it mildly, and I am SHOWING my faith by my works and today made application for $2,000 on myself and $2,000 on my wife. I can cheerfully recommend it to my friends as the only insurance to buy, because IT PAYS IF YOU LIVE AND PAYS IF YOU DIE
